Definitions

Sanctions = The penalty for noncompliance specified in a law, or any penalty that acts to insure compliance or conformity.

- A. Warn & Counsel – A formal verbal or written warning and giving of advice regarding offense-related behavior. When a formal verbal warning is the sanction applied, the associated disposition is Informal Adjustment Without Supervision. When a written warning is the sanction applied, the associated disposition is Informal Adjustment, No Conference.
- B. Restitution – The juvenile is to make restitution or reparation for the damages or loss caused by the offense.
- C. Community Service – The juvenile is to perform community service under the supervision of the court or an organization selected by the court.
- D. Court Fees & Assessments – The juvenile is to pay court costs and/or assessments related to the processing of his/her case.
- E. Supervision – The juvenile officer meeting regularly with the juvenile and custodian for the following purposes: 1) providing and/or monitoring intervention programs, and prevention and education programs, to ensure the juvenile is receiving those services as expected, 2) ensuring that the juvenile is complying with sanctions, as ordered by the court, or agreed to by the juvenile and custodian through the information adjustment agreement.
- F. Day Treatment Program – The juvenile is ordered to participate in a day treatment program, but may remain in the community. A day treatment program operates in a non-secure setting, but activities are highly structured. Program activities may include close supervision, counseling, educational/vocational services, and other services to assist the juvenile in developing skills needed to function effectively in the community and avoid delinquent behavior.
- G. Intensive Supervision – The juvenile is adjudicated and placed under intensive supervision, a type of formal supervision. Distinctive features of intensive supervision programs include low caseloads, frequent contacts with the juvenile, regular collateral contacts with other family members, school personnel, and/or community members who have knowledge of the juvenile's behavior. During the early stage of intensive supervision, contacts may be surveillance-oriented, with emphasis on control and behavioral management. Frequency of contacts may diminish as juvenile demonstrates progress. Juveniles on intensive supervision may be placed on electronic monitoring.
- H. Court Residential Placement – The juvenile is ordered into a facility that constitutes the least restrictive appropriate placement for that juvenile. The juvenile will reside at the court operated or court funded placement until the court determines he/she may be released. This excludes placement in Department of Mental Health (DMH) or Division of Family Services (DFS) facilities. Placement facilities may be community-based and provide intensive treatment services and special programming based on the juvenile's needs.
- I. Commitment to Division of Youth Services – The juvenile is adjudicated and committed to Division of Youth Services.

Services = A treatment or service designed to affect a change in behavior.

Prevention and Education Programs – The juvenile is required to participate in prevention and/or education programs. Prevention programs are brief programs offered by the court or in the community, that are intended to educate the juvenile about the consequences of the law violation or other at-risk behaviors. Examples of these include drug awareness programs or shoplifters' programs. Education programs are those programs offered by the court or in the community, which address academic deficits or vocational needs. Examples include G.E.D. classes, tutoring, or vocational training programs.

Intervention Programs – The juvenile is required to participate in an intervention program, such as a sex offender program, family therapy group, or substance abuse group.
